The date for the foot ball game with Lawrenceburg, Tenn., has been changed. The new date is Wednesday night, Dec. 20. Which brings to mind the fact that Lawrenceburg has gone along so far this season without being defeated. They'll offer the same formidable opposition when they get down in these parts. Any way, please remember the date, Dec. 20.

I had a beautiful stand of cantaloupes in my garden on Monday evening. This morning I have three plants left. Being unusually busy this week I paid little or no attention to the garden. When I looked at it this morning I found some kind of bugs eating on the plants. I believe I saved the plants from being pepper. If it saves these three plants I'll tell you more about it later.

The radishes are coming along ok. Plenty big enough to eat. But for the life of me I can't understand why I planted so many at one time. Now, they are all ready to eat at one time. The more I think about it the more I'm convinced that I was cut out for something besides a farmer.

Have you ever been bothered with too many neighbors? I'm pained with something like that here in the Canals. The corporation has pitched headquarters right across the street from my office. The corporation itself offers no problem. It's the number of visitors. They keep our street blocked day in and day out. The corporation is selling at their office and the drivers paying no attention to the way they park keeps me in a lather most of the time. I don't all, when you go along for years with no one to bother you and then ever night have a whole flock of neighbors and visitors upsetting your daily routine. Well it is hard on the disposition.

Farmers on the shore of Lake Okechobee are getting a break this fall. Prices have been unusually good for the past couple of months. Many of the growers are coming out of the red. Of course, there are several who either had to come out of the red or quit farming. And once again, Old Lady Luck smiles. The yield of beans has been pretty fair during the fall and there can be no kick on the prices that have prevailed.

Last week I wrote a story about four hunters who were out for the big cyprus on a deer hunting expedition. I told about the way in which they had to borrow most of their food. One of the fellows (self-styled hunters) had something to say about the story. However, on closer investigation I found that every word of it was true just as I reported last week in the news columns. Tim under the impression that the fellow squawked about the story was the poorest shot in the crowd.

It's nearing Christmas season. There are only a few days left in which to do your Christmas shopping. For many years I've been doing about trading with your local merchants. I think you and I are the chaps who stick it out through thick and thin. They are the ones who pay the taxes and help support our schools and churches. They deserve your support at Christmas-time and all the time. And while I'm thinking about the merchants, same merchants shouldn't send off to some Chicago mail order house for their printing.

Schools Close For

All Glades Schools In Same District
After Change Made By County Board

Closer Supervision Possible
Under New Plan The Members Believe

A new school district zone plan became effective in Palm Beach county Wednesday when the county board of public instruction adopted a resolution providing for changes in district boundaries as permitted by the state school code adopted at the last session of the legislature.

The simplified districting placed all schools in the Everglades region in one district, represented by Carmen Salvatore, Pahokee. The district will be under J. C. Engman, Lake Worth.

Previously the Lake Harbor, Belle Glade and Chosen schools were in district 2, represented by J. W. West Palm Beach; the Jupiter, Lake Worth and Riviera precincts were in district 3, represented by Eugene H. Brown in Engman's district.

Under the revised system, Jupiter, Lake Harbor and Brown precincts were merged into district 2, Chosen, Belle Glade, South Bay, Lake Harbor and Brown precincts were merged into district 3, West Palm Beach, Jupiter, Lake Park, Military Trail, West Gate and Loxahatchee, Engman precincts were merged into district 4, Boynton, Boca Raton and Delray Beach.

Under the new set-up the board members will be able to give closer supervision of the schools in their district.

Hobson's Crew Comes Thru Battle With Flying Colors; Backed By 1000 Grid Fan

Local Gridsters Make It Two In A Row Over Palm
Beach High. Score In Second and Third Quarters
While Cats Score In Final Stanza of the Game

Coach Frank Hobson's Pahokee Blue Devils are Palm Beach county champions this morning for the second time in succession. It all came about last night when the Lak Region pickupsters journeyed to West Palm Beach and defeated the Palm Beach High Wildcats by a score of 13 to 0. Backed by more than 1,000 grid fans from the Lak Region the Hobsonmen came through in grand style--bringing the county championship to their school for the second year straight. It was the final game of the season for the Palm Beach players and the Pahokee squad has one more game--with Lawrenceburg, Tenn., on Wednesday night, December 20.

Last night's score was 13 to 0 and Hobson's men were just about that much better than the Wildcats. The Blue Devils made first downs while their opponent made six. The locals gained 10 yards rushing and Palm Beach gained 33. Baxter's punts averaged 32 yards while those of Hug Miller averaged 37 yards.

During the first quarter both teams made a scoring threat but the outstanding feature of the game was the game was the kicking of Baxter and Miller.

In the middle of the second quarter Pahokee drove 35 yards to the Wildcats 40 but were forced to kick. Baxter's punt going to the Wildcats 18. Was kicked by Hug Miller. The Blue Devils played and Pahokee recovered at Palm Beach's 25. The Blue Devils put over the game's first marker when Frasier's crew and found a pass which Harris deflected into Baxter's arms on the 10, and Baxter riced around the goal and all three of Frasier's placement was wide.

When Baxter trotted across the goal line with the ball Everglades fans were plenty of noise. They sensed victory after that first marker and were not to be denied. Frasier's crew and found a pass which Harris deflected into Baxter's arms on the 10, and Baxter riced around the goal and all three of Frasier's placement was wide.

Freeman Speaker
Before Lions Club

George P. Freeman, Scout executive of the Gulf Stream Council, was the guest speaker at the Lions Club Lions Club meeting Wednesday night at the home of Harry Peters. Mr. Freeman spoke on the origin and early history of Scouting. Recent methods of training are based upon the tactics used by Sir Robert Baden Powell in training war recruits for service during the Boer war. His memoirs were published in England after the war and used there for training boys. While visiting England, Mr. Freeman met Mr. D. C. C. to lead the Boy Scouts of America. West was an ideal man for this position. He had overcome numerous handicaps to rise to the position he held. At that time there were a number of boys' scout leaders in Washington. D. C. to lead the Boy Scouts of America. West was an ideal man for this position. He had overcome numerous handicaps to rise to the position he held. At that time there were a number of boys' scout leaders in Washington. D. C. to lead the Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Freeman then discussed the objectives of Scouting. The chief aims are to give boys character and citizenship training. By encouraging habits of health, kindness, and daily good turns the Scout leader inculcates in his charges the best of manly character. Merit badges, which cover 100 subjects, camping and hiking, are given to boys for their country and training in citizenship that are invaluable later in life. He concluded by pointing out that each member can play an important part in local scouting by serving on local and district committees, by acting as scout leaders or as merit badge counselors. In fact the success of a Scout troop depends upon local support of this nature.

Dr. Harold Ellsbury was a guest of the Belle Glade Rotary Club.

THE GOOD SAMARITAN

When Jesus Christ was on earth, he told a story which has a close application to life in Florida today. He told how a man was attacked by robbers, and left half dead by the roadside. Two officials of the man's country saw him, but passed him by on the other side, and did nothing for him. A Samaritan, a citizen of a country despised in those parts, took pity on him. He took the wounded man into his inn, and provided for him with the best care. The hearers of this story were told to go and do likewise.

The calls for help today are not as obvious as they were in those old times. We go through our streets and almost never see anybody lying half dead by the roadside.

Millions of people are suffering from the misfortunes of life, and frequently go unrelieved. The suffering people located in the back streets of cities and towns, or remote country places, and their plight is often forgotten and neglected.

The function of caring for these unfortunate folks is undertaken by many charitable and philanthropic societies. Yet the calls on them are so enormous, that they do not begin to have the money enough to care for all these unfortunate.

The American Red Cross performs this service on a great scale, but the need for aid is so tremendous that it cannot begin to render help to all who need it. It carries on educational work covering the whole country so far as possible, which helps people to avoid sickness and accident. It administered relief last year to 165,000 families suffering from floods and other disasters.

This superb organization is holding its annual roll call and canvass for members closing its drive Thanksgiving Day. It could well use 10 times as much money as it can possibly get, in works of charity that would relieve poverty and prevent suffering. The American people should give more generously.—Homestead News.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay.

After reviewing my "Gal Friday" column of last week, I've concluded that it is a waste of time for me to be struggling with a column and annoying the audience with my errors.

What she said about the Kay family being in a position to really appreciate TWO Thanksgivings is indeed true and we are mighty thankful to have come through the holiday season as we have. This business of turning double soufflés in an automobile is not all it cracked up to be, even if it is plenty "cracked up."

Since Jeanette gave you a pretty accurate description of the wreck, I'll not go into that going through it is enough. Anyhow, I'm back in circulation again with only a few cuts and bruises and while Mrs. Kay is still in the hospital with a bone splinter that will have to mend before she can drink and "steppin' out," I'm happy to report that she is really comfortably and making progress toward recovery.

Both of us are truly grateful for the hundreds of phone calls, telegrams, letters, flowers and gifts that have poured in from all over the state. Certainly no one ever had more loyal or thoughtful friends. It hasn't been possible for us personally acknowledge these many expressions of cheer, and friendship as yet and so this column must serve that end until permits a more personal reply.

In spite of the blow-out patches the doc plastered me with, I was able to take advantage of an invitation from Senator Loftin to join his party for a ride on the Florida East Coast Railway's new streamliner, the "Henry M. Flagler," on its pre-inaugural run from Jacksonville to Miami.

And I want to tell you folks, it is a peach of a train, modern and up-to-the-minute in every respect, affording each passenger advantages and comforts that those found in Pullman trains and at fares that are ridiculously low.

Following christening ceremonies at the Jacksonville Terminal Station, about 200 invited guests boarded the swanky train, each with an assigned Tavert or chair seat in one of the luxurious all-steel coaches.

But assigning seats and keeping people in their seats was something else, for like a kid with a new toy, everyone wanted to inspect the train and folks began milling down the aisles before we had much more than taken off. The popular rendezvous was the beautiful appointed Tavert or chair car where buffet lunches and drinks were served.

Just as inviting was the luxurious observation car, equal in every respect to the finest that Pullman has to offer. Among the dignitaries milling about or boring down the comfortable lounge chairs were Senator Loftin, Jerry Carter, Senator Jess Parrish, Mayor Walter Priddy, Harold Collins, Mayor Ev Sevel, and many others.

Beginning this month, daily service between New York and Florida will be maintained with these splendid new streamliners.

operating over the Seaboard, Atlantic Coast Line and the Florida East Coast.

This new deluxe, low-fare service meets a popular demand and is bound to substantially increase travel to the state. The enterprise of the roads serving Florida in providing this splendid equipment should be appreciated by all Floridians.

Enthusiastic delegations gathered at stations along the line to greet the train and its distinguished passengers, for it was indeed an auspicious occasion. I'm sure that the spirit of Henry M. Flagler hovered over the streamliner that bears his name, to view with pride the great cities that have today as a tribute to his love of Florida his belief in her future, and his courage in backing it up with his money and his effort.

These new crack trains that will forever be the mainstay of the railroads, for even with daily service on all lines, demand for accommodations will far exceed those available. I am confident that throughout the winter season, those desiring transportation on these splendid trains will find themselves compelled to make reservations weeks in advance.

★ Electric cookery is the Christmas present that keeps on giving. For mother: less work, more time to enjoy life, more time to stay young. For all the family: savings, safety, better-cooked foods with more delicious flavor. It's another aid to modern living made possible by cheap, dependable electric service.

★ Costs as little as a day if you already have electric refrigeration. Radiant, flameless electric heat saves on foods, too—lessens shrinkage in cooking, "seals-in" delicate natural flavors, retains healthful elements.

Prices Still Good In Lake Bean Deal

The bean deal on the shores of Lake Okechobee has been satisfactory to all concerned so far this fall, according to growers and brokers. During the past week between 65 and 75 cars went out by rail and about the same amount by trucks. The records at the Florida East Coast depot are kept by Mr. Rodick for this newspaper and two other interested concerns. In the past couple of weeks these records have become garbled in some manner and it is impossible to report the exact movement.

Tendergreens have been bringing from $1.25 to $1.75 with the majority selling from $1.50 to $1.90. Valentines have ranged in price from $1.50, $2.00 to $2.25. First car lot movement of peas this week brought in at $1.05. One car of peas sold for $1.25. These prices are considered satisfactory for peas, one farmer said.

Early Mailing Helps Postman Avoid Problem of Yule Rush

Public Always Waits Until Last Minute Despite Tearful Pleas.

If Christmas mailers didn't wait until the last minute with their cards and packages, post office officials predict the annual Yule rush would be minimized immensely. But despite tearful pleas each December, the bulk of holiday mail falls into post offices, less than seven days before Christmas. What the public really needs, say officials, is that their gifts will be delivered to him before Christmas. As a result all too many gifts don't arrive until after Christmas! "Mail early," is the plea of the heavily burdened postman below.

Nature's Yuletide Gift

From verdant forests throughout northern America, trees to grace the nation's Christmas markets are shipped each year. This picture was taken in Maine, where 1,500,000 trees are being felled for the holidays, to be loaded for shipment to all parts of the United States.

War conditions in Japan have caused a large increase in the price of per centum ration number of manufacturers of heavy industry equipment in Japan, and easily made gas proof, have been perfected in England.
